

Why Become an LSA Member? Benefits of Membership:

- Play a role in the only Canada-based, interdisciplinary academic organization that focuses on Portuguese-speaking populations
- Be a part of an international scholarly organization, in existence since 2013, that distributes a quarterly LSA Newsletter
- Participate in the LSA's bi-yearly conferences, which are held in diverse global settings
- The LSA will be offering the Pedro Da Silva Award for a graduate student who has been a member in good standing
- Network with colleagues who are studying issues throughout the Portuguese-speaking world and its communities
- Disseminate your work in our affiliated journal the Portuguese Studies Review and with academic publishers such as Éditions Baywolf Press
- Access topical, high-caliber research, in both the Portuguese Studies Review and Éditions Baywolf Press
- Receive discounts on LSA conferences, Symposiums, and other events
- Participate in LSA online Panels with no panel fee
- Be notified about LSA and related events, conferences, webinars and other happenings.
- Connect to our LSA Facebook page, linking you to a global network of scholars
- Access interdisciplinary global scholarship and resources
- Support awareness of the Lusophone legacy and influence in Canada and elsewhere
- Receive postings of current academic positions, dealing with the Portuguese-speaking world and its populations.
- Connect with our Lusophone Studies online, linking scholars throughout the world.